

Question from J. Scull Construction:

On the reflected ceiling plans they are calling out light fixture allowances, but they have the fixtures called out in the electrical drawings. Which are we to follow?

Answer from Lantz-Boggio Architects, PC:

Follow the electrical design drawings for the lighting layout and specifications. The allowances mentioned were for the initial bid period and have been superseded by the updated electrical drawings. Price actual light fixtures from the fixture schedule.